Territorial Democratic Platform Adopted at the State Convention.

The democratic party of Utah in convention assembled, reporting its trust in the intelligence, patriotism and justice of the people—standing upon the constitution as a foundation and limitation of the powers of the government as well as the guaranty of the liberties of the citizen—congratulate the territory—now soon to be a state—on the assured success of the policy adopted by the national organization as laid down in all its platforms.

For the democracy of the entire territory we reaffirm our faith in the permanence of federal union and our devotion to the constitution and the laws; and declare as cardinal doctrines of democracy:

First—Absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority as a vital principle of the democratic party.

Second—Total separation of church and state for the sake alike of civil and religious liberty.

Third—The liberty of the individual untrammelled by summary laws.

Fourth—Support by the state of the public schools.

Fifth—The supremacy of the civil over the military power.

Sixth—Exact equality of all persons before the law.

Seventh—The right to a free ballot—the right preservative of all other rights.

Eighth—That our democratic party is the friend of the laboring man in every avocation of life, and will protect his interest alike against the aggressions of monopoly as well as the commune.

We believe the restoration of the money of the constitution is now the paramount issue before the country, and insist that both parties shall plainly state their respective positions upon the question in order that the voters may intelligently express their preference. We therefore declare ourselves in favor of the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. Gold and silver coin to be a full and legal tender for all debts public and private.

We denounce the republican party for the demonization of silver in 1873 and for its repeated acts of hostility toward its re-coinage.

We call attention to the fact that the country was in the throes of a financial panic when the democratic administration assumed control in 1883, and we congratulate the people upon the approaching reign of prosperity as a result of a democratic reform of the tariff, and also to the fact that factories, foundries and mills have resumed work since the repeal of the McKinley law, and to the constantly advancing wages of workmen in almost every line.

We again express our hearty appreciation of the democratic congress and president in providing an enabling act by virtue of which Utah is about to assume its position as a sovereign state.

We commend the action of the democratic members of the constitutional convention in surrounding the taxing and revenue-raising power of the state by such restrictions and limitations as to preclude any squandering of public property in aid of private enterprises, and to confine the expenses of carrying on the public business within proper limits of economy, despite the almost unanimous opposition of a republican majority. And we favor the adoption of the proposed constitution.

We congratulate the women of Utah upon their admission to equal political rights with men under the provisions of the constitution proposed, and commend the republican party for its unwarranted and libelous attack upon the majority of the Utah commission, and deplore the lack of principle shown by its attempt without any evidence and on partisan hypotheses to besmirch the character of honorable citizens.

JOHNNY'S BIG LIE.

Hon. John T. Caine Denies the Charge.

BIG RALLY AT EPHRAIM.

Hon. Joseph L. Rawlins Proves That the Bond Issue Was Made Necessary Wholely by Through and Because of Republican Legislation.

Hons. Jos. L. Rawlins and John T. Caine spoke to an enthusiastic democratic rally at Ephraim, Sanpete county, on Saturday evening.

Mr. Rawlins delivered one of the ablest addresses on the issues of the day that has been heard in that section during any campaign. He handled the financial question without gloves, showing the people that the bond issue of which so much has been heard was the result of the republican misrule and not a calamity following in the wake of democratic victory. He showed by conclusive evidence that before the close of Mr. Harrison's term that Secretary Foster had admitted that a bond issue was inevitable, no matter who was president. The record of the republicans in congress was shown up to prove his declaration that republicans and not democrats were responsible for the issue of bonds.

Mr. Caine touched upon the general issues briefly and then took up matters of local interest such as the public or state land problem, taxation, prison management, public improvements, economical expenditure of public funds and many other matters of vital importance to the people who will have to bear the burdens of taxation. His address gave general satisfaction and created a good impression among the people.

Republicans as well as democrats congratulated him on his address and are declaring that his theories of governmental affairs as applied to the new state met their views exactly.

Before closing his address Mr. Caine disposed in a most manly, fearless, honest and satisfactory way of the damnable and cowardly charges and insinuations young Johnny Kane has been making against him in different parts of Sanpete county to the effect that he (Mr. Caine) had a hand in the alleged election frauds. And he placed Johnny and the republicans who repeat his story in a very embarrassing position. They will either have to prove their charges (which they can't, for there is not one word of truth in them) or have their insinuations come back on them as a boomerang.

In reply to the insinuations Mr. Caine said that those who knew him and of his services to the people would not believe the story against him, but he wanted to say to those who did not know him that he denied the charges first and last and dared the republicans to meet the issue. He said that he held a ballot in such esteem that if it had been possible for him last year to have changed the result by turning one ballot wrongfully and no one would have known it yet he would not have turned the ballot. He said when he reached Sanpete county Frank Cannon and C. W. Bennett were already there. He had not seen or touched a Sanpete ballot box, or so far as he knew, talked with a judge of election.

The effect of the honest manly speech made by Mr. Caine will be productive of great good in the county, as it puts the republicans in a very embarrassing position.

weirde Torture in Morocco.

A charge had been laid at Mulai Omar's door—that of having ordered the music of the drums and fifes to cease on the occasion of the announcement of Mulai Abdul Aziz's accession to the throne. On the players refusing, his highness sent a slave, who enforced silence by splitting up the drums with a dagger. For this act of treason he was afterward punished by having the flesh of his hand sliced, the wound filled with salt and the whole hand sewed up in leather.

It is a common belief that this punishment causes mortification to set in and that the hand decomposes, but such is not the case, for by the time the leather wears off the wound is healed the result being that the hand is rendered useless and remains closed forever. It is a punishment not often in use, but is sometimes done in cases of murder or constant theft, as, without in any way injuring the health of the man, it prevents his committing the crime a second time or for the hundredth time, as the case may be. It is a punishment that cannot be applied except by the sultan's order.—Blackwood's Magazine.

BEWARE OF PNEUMONIA.

Health Commissioner Edson of New York Tells How to Ward It Off.

Although more or less prevalent throughout the year, pneumonia is peculiarly dangerous during the opening months of winter. With the first frosts a very marked increase takes place in the number of cases, and during this cold, damp weather extra precautions should be taken. Pneumonia is produced by an earth microbe, and when frost prevails the soil beneath the house is the only ground which is not frozen. The germ gradually works toward the warm, moist earth, and the house really acts as a sort of stove, which forms a ready mode of egress for them. The proper ventilation of rooms is therefore an important factor in guarding against pneumonia, one, however, which is often overlooked.

Lack of personal hygiene is the chief predisposing cause of the disease. In regular hours, insufficient nourishment, dyspepsia, excessive fatigue or some disease which has lowered the general tone of the system all weaken the power of resisting the pneumonia germ. When the system is run down, a sudden exposure to cold may prove fatal, while in a normal condition of body it would be thrown off.

There are three periods during which the susceptibility to pneumonia is greatest. They are early childhood—that is, up to 7 years of age, between the ages of 20 and 40 and after 60. The power of resistance against pneumonia grows much feebler after 60 years of age, and nine-tenths of the cases prove fatal.

Cold, damp weather is favorable to the contraction of "colds" and the subsequent development of pneumonia, and it still exists to some extent in a modified form. This is the disease with which pneumonia most readily combines, but it is found in combination with diphtheria, typhoid fever, measles, scarlet fever and many others.

When a severe or sudden chill has been contracted, the main thing is to act quickly, and many a serious illness can be averted and valuable life saved by a little intelligence coupled with promptness. If possible, send for a doctor immediately and take ten grains of quinine and five drops of spirits of camphor in a little water or on a lump of sugar. These doses are for an adult. Then soak the feet in hot water and jump into bed. Simple as these remedies are, they have nipped in the bud many prospective cases of pneumonia.

While soaking the feet the body should be warmly wrapped in a blanket, which should be kept on until some time after the person has entered the bed in order that free perspiration be continued and not checked.

A good thing to prevent "colds" is to wear wool next the skin. When this is not possible on account of the irritation sometimes caused, a mixture of wool and silk will generally be found satisfactory. I would not recommend cotton in any form for underwear, as it is frequently the cause of a dangerous cold by becoming wet and keeping the temperature of the skin below the normal. Care should be taken that the feet do not get wet, or if so that prompt measures are taken to dry them and a change of hose made.

The care taken of the outside of the body must be supplemented by the same care of the inside. A moderate diet, wholesome food, plenty of rest, regular hours, will keep the whole system in good order and enable it to throw off the germs of disease, which can only obtain a footing when debilitation affords an entrance for the disease and a fruitful soil for its development.—Cyrus Edson in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ARCHITECTURAL COMPETITION.

Medals to be Awarded at the Tenth Exhibition of the League.

The tenth annual exhibition of the Architectural league will open in the galleries of the Fine Arts society building in West Fifty-seventh street, New York city, on Feb. 15 next, and all works submitted must be delivered not later than Feb. 5. The annual dinner of the Architectural league will be held in the galleries on the evening of Feb. 13. The exhibition will consist, as usual, of architectural drawings, drawings of decorative works, cartoons for stained glass, models, carvings in stone, wood and bronze, examples of designs in mosaic, glass, fabrics and furniture and sketches and paintings of architectural and decorative subjects. The jury and judging committee will consist of the officers of the league, together with the members of the subcommittees on architecture and decoration and the chairman of the catalogue committee.

The subject for the eighth annual competition for the gold and silver medals given by the league is "The Main Stairway of a National Library." The competition is open to all residents of the United States under the age of 23 years. The first and second prize drawings are to become the property of the league. Thomas Hastings, Will H. Low and George L. Heins constitute the committee on competitions.

There is probably no honor in Europe more esteemed or which is granted to more deserving people than the ribbon of the Legion of Honor of France. Its possession almost always implies heroism, patriotism, self sacrifice, intellectual power or some quality or group of qualities, so which we all look up to. It has just been awarded to Sister Agnes, the head of a nursing institution at Brest, the famous naval headquarters of the French republic. Sister Agnes is a nun who has devoted all of her religious career to nursing the sick and wounded, and more especially those of the French navy, that came to her port. She possesses remarkable professional and medical skill and is said to have saved hundreds of lives by her tireless exertions.—Paris Letter.

JIM MICKLE'S BROTHERS.

They Prove to be Rather Tough Customers and May Yet Give the People of Mt. Pleasant Much Trouble.

The Salt Lake Tribune publishes the following this morning from its correspondent at Mt. Pleasant:

The fuss in which two Spring City youths figured last Thursday evening is a more serious affair than was at first learned. The two offending young men were Pete and Fred Mickle or Peterson, brothers of Jim Mickle, who, with Moon Kofford, is in hiding for the murder of Sheriff Burras. It seems that Pete and Fred have a grudge against the marshal here, and when the city officer stepped into a saloon to quell the disturbance they were creating, the boys were not long in showing open hostility, and one of them went so far as to order the crowd to clear out, as he wanted to kill the marshal.

Marshal Braby, being unarmed, sprang at the young man and, getting him under control, ordered a bystander to assist him in taking the boys to the city jail. On the way, one of them said, "Which is it to be, Pete, life or death?" "Death," muttered the other, and Fred made a plunge for his hip pocket and the other began a struggle with his captor. Braby grabbed Fred by the throat and, knocking him down, slipped a pair of "cuffs," and searching him, which he had previously overlooked, found him unarmed, the boy endeavoring to run a big bluff, but it didn't work. They gave $15 apiece for their appearance, which was forfeited. On being released they went back to the saloon, and becoming engaged in another row, one young man sustained a broken hand in knocking one of the boys down. They finally went home, vowing vengeance, and as they exhibit a mean disposition when drinking, serious trouble in this city is to be expected from them. Had the marshal been armed he surely would have shot at Fred when he publicly threatened to kill the officer and made a very suspicious hand move. The marshal does not propose to run any more such chances.

Mining Notes.

Nephi Times:—Little Salt Creek is on a boom. Captain Deprezn has become interested in the district with Blackett brothers and he pronounced the camp as a high-grade, up-to-date country. From his calculations he secured assays running 172 ounces of silver, $4.84 in gold and 66 per cent, copper. The formation described in a recent issue of the Times has been pronounced by experts identical with that of the great Calumet and Hecla copper mine at Superior, Wisconsin. One hundred and fifty prospectors are now in the country, and more are coming in with each train.

THE "UTAH" SOLD.

Eureka Democrat:—Another change of great importance has just taken place in the affairs of the Utah Mining company. It is nothing more or less than the passing of the control of the company from the hands of C. E. Loose to those of Franklin Farrell, of Ansonia, Conn., the owner of the company. From his calculations he secured assays running 172 ounces of silver, $4.84 in gold and 66 per cent, copper. The formation described in a recent issue of the Times has been pronounced by experts identical with that of the great Calumet and Hecla copper mine at Superior, Wisconsin. One hundred and fifty prospectors are now in the country, and more are coming in with each train.

WORSE THAN DEATH.

System of Refined Torture That Kills in Three Years.

Though the death penalty was practically abolished in Belgium over 30 years ago, the punishment of those convicted of capital crimes is so awful that none has yet been able to endure it more than three years. Another curious thing is that little Belgium until recently had two public executioners, while but one was sufficient for her vast neighbor, France—Dahler, otherwise known as "M. de Paris." The king of the Belgians recently ordered the retirement on a pension of 1837 francs of the "executor of high works" (as he is euphemistically termed), who was stationed at Liege. The executioner at Brussels still holds his place.

The duties of public executioner in Belgium are singular, but not arduous. The courts still continue to sentence malefactors to death, but the gallotine has been replaced by a scaffold on which is posted a copy of the sentence. Much ceremony is observed in affixing this document. A troop of gendarmes, with their imposing helmets plumed with horsehair, is drawn up about the place of execution, while they gravely guard with sabers drawn, while the red robed executioner mounts the steps, nails up the decree of the court and after a moment takes it down again.

But the condemned man might more mercifully have perished by the ax or rope. He is placed in a dungeon so constructed that from the moment he enters it he will never hear the sound of human voices nor see a living being. His food is passed through a sliding panel in the door of his cell.

Not one of these prisoners has been able to survive this confinement more than three years. The authorities have striven in vain to prolong their lives by varying their food as much as possible, but those who are moderately or lightly nourished gradually waste away, while those who are generously fed go mad and die raving maniacs.—New York World.

Churning.

Among the Arabs a practice from time immemorial has prevailed of churning by placing the milk in leather skins which were shaken or beaten until the butter came. The skins did not churn by trying a bag of milk to a sheet of leather, the other end of which was fastened to the saddle. The horse was put at a brisk gallop, and after a round of some miles the churning was considered to be accomplished.
